

NEBRASKA SURE REPUBLICAN

Thirty to Fifty Thousand for National Ticket, Says Morrill.

SAFE ALSO FOR MICKEY AND THE REST

Gurley to Be Asked for Ratification Speech—Democrats Continue Their Factional Fight in City Affairs.

C. H. Morrill, national republican committeeman from Nebraska, came up to state headquarters from Lincoln Friday to confer with the other campaign managers preliminary to making a general political matter affecting the state with the western bureau of the national committee.

"I have been out over the state a great deal," said Mr. Morrill, "and conditions, from a republican standpoint, are improving all the time. It is generally conceded that Roosevelt will carry the state by a majority ranging from 30,000 to 50,000. Republicans everywhere feel confident the state ticket is safe and will be victorious, though by a majority smaller than that certain for the national ticket."

"The legislative ticket is the only doubtful issue we have now, and doubtful seems too strong a word in view of the fact that every move made by the democrats and pops seems to be originated to help us. The issues are not yet defined in many legislative districts, owing to the fact that a large number of the nominations have not been made, while others have just been made. An active campaign has not yet been opened along this line throughout the state. This will be really the work of the state committee—to see that the legislative ticket is properly looked after."

No serious reason. "It is clear the democrats and populists are having great trouble in effecting a genuine article of fusion this year, as witnessed in Lancaster county, where democrats are threatening to cut Pargo if the pops do not quit attacking Parker, and also in Custer county, where the two parties failed to fuse altogether."

"Everything the democrats and populists have done from the national conventions to the present has been for the good of the republican party. One might almost say the enemy is conducting the campaign against itself better than we could do it. While it is true the democrats and populists are trying their best, under the leadership of Mr. Bryan, to mass on the legislative ticket, indications are that the effort will be unsuccessful and they cannot get together on this single point."

Will invite Gurley to speak. Officers of the Sixth Ward Republican club are going to make an effort to induce W. F. Gurley to come out of the retirement he assumed voluntarily after the primaries Saturday and make a speech at a meeting to be held in Idlewild hall Saturday night. It is proposed to make the gathering a ratification assembly of the nominations of John L. Kennedy for congress and Howard Kennedy, jr., for district judge. At the convention Tuesday Mr. Gurley caused a great deal of talk by failing to be present and make a speech as the other defeated candidates did. Even his closest friends were disappointed. President Ostrom of the Sixth Ward club is confident that Gurley will help to make the meeting solid for the nominees. Both the Kennedys are to speak and J. W. Jeffers, Nelson C. Pratt and other orators are on the program. Candidates before the county primaries have been invited generally and a large attendance is promised for the meeting.

Democratic Fight Goes On

Members of the democratic city committee ordered the delegates of the municipal convention of 1903 to reconvene to nominate candidates for the Water board and the Board of Education say they propose to go ahead with the convention Saturday night, despite the mandamus directing them to do otherwise, secured by James F. Connolly, candidate for the Water board, and other members of the committee.

Secretary Ellick and other members of the committee have not yet been served with the copies of the writ. They have been advised by C. J. Smyth and other lawyers that their action in arranging for a convention is entirely within their power and that the committee and that the Connolly suit can have no effect. The hearing is set for Saturday morning before Judge Day.

The eleven members of the city committee who composed a majority of the twenty-one who fixed up the convention for Saturday night, with delegates from the old Howell nominating convention, in order to clinch the Water board nomination for Dr. A. H. Hipple, figured that with these delegates Hipple would have enough in his favor to pull through without a struggle at the primaries. A new development, however, threatens to change the conditions, so that the nomination does not look so sure. This is the announcement that Warren Switzer, a well-known attorney, is a candidate for the place. Governor Boyd has brought W. F. out, and says he needs him on the board because of his legal ability. With the retirement of T. J. Mahoney only one lawyer, I. E. Congdon, will be left on the board, and the chairman thinks there should be two in view of the complications involved in the purchase of the water plant and its appraisal.

The democratic congressional committee at a meeting held Friday afternoon in Congressman Hitchcock's office decided to hold a convention on October 1 in Omaha. The appointment will be 100 delegates to Douglas county, twelve to Washington county and eight in Sarpy. The call, directing how the delegates shall be chosen, will be announced later. The committee devoted the greater part of the meeting to discussing the hopelessness of defeating John L. Kennedy, the republican nominee.

EAST SOLID FOR ROOSEVELT

Wall Street Shuns Parker for Fear of a Bryan Congress.

CAPTAIN PALMER GIVES OBSERVATIONS

Says Democrats May Carry Wisconsin on State Officers, but Certainly Will Lose It on National Ticket.

Postmaster Henry E. Palmer has returned from a two weeks' visit in the east where he went to meet with the board of trustees of the National Home for Disabled Volunteers of which he is a member. Captain Palmer said in reference to political conditions in the east:

"Everything is for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. They are practically elected now. All that is needed is to count the votes and inaugurate them. The conditions in New York are materially changed since my last visit to that city. While the Wall Street influences admit Parker is a good man, yet they are not disposed to take any chances of a Bryan congress. They figure it that if Parker is elected, a democratic congress naturally will follow. They do not want that kind of a congress. This feeling is very manifest among the leading business men of New York and the east generally. They are a little displeased with the stand Roosevelt has taken against the trusts, but they are far more distrustful of a democratic congress and do not propose to take any chances."

Peculiar Status in Wisconsin.

"The conditions in Wisconsin are rather peculiar. It is barely possible the democrats will carry the state on state officers, but it is very generally conceded the state will go republican on the national ticket. I had a talk with George W. Peck, the democratic nominee for governor of that state. He is confident of his own election, but is very noncommittal as regards the national ticket. The fight on state issues is very bitter, but the republicans are unanimous on national issues."

"Indiana is safely republican. I was in Indianapolis half a day and talked with several of the political leaders there and they all agree the state will go republican by a big majority. Tom Taggart is a great worker, but with all his popularity in Indiana it will be impossible for him to swing the state for Parker and it is conceded by democratic leaders that the state of Indiana is hopelessly republican."

"The greatest of enthusiasm prevails in Ohio and that state will roll up one of its biggest majorities for Roosevelt. There are no factional differences among the republicans there."

GOOD TIME AT TERRE HAUTE

Sixteen Hundred Old Boys and Girls Renew Associations After Long Separation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Weaver and Miss Weaver have returned from Terre Haute and St. Louis, attending the reunion of the "Old Boys' and Girls' association" of the Wabash town, and the World's fair, respectively.

"Some 1,600 old residents of Terre Haute, who had scattered to the four corners of the world, attended this reunion," said Mr. Weaver. "It was a unique affair and the most enjoyable I ever attended. We had been away from Terre Haute for twenty-seven years, and Mrs. Weaver and I, and we met old friends we had not seen in that length of time, and there were any number of other such meetings. You can imagine what pleasures such reunions brought. Men and women with their families came from east, west, north and south; from England, and everybody came filled with determination to have a good time and make everybody else have a good time."

"The old town was simply at our command. The people did everything possible to make us feel at home, and they succeeded, too. We were royally entertained. There was one general headquarters where every visitor registered, and by that means a general meeting was possible. The weather was fine all the time."

The other Omaha Terre Hauteans who attended the reunion have not yet returned.

LONG FALL AND NO INJURY

Four-Year-Old Child Drops from Third Story Without Being Seriously Hurt.

Marguerite Vincent, the 4-year-old daughter of Fred Vincent, living in the Tinsard block, at Twenty-third and Davenport streets, fell from a third-story window at her home Thursday afternoon to the sidewalk and escaped any serious injury. The child struck fairly on its head and, aside from a slight bruise or two, is none the worse for its frightful fall.

In falling, the little one struck the awning over the ground floor and bounded off onto the stone sidewalk near the curb. The accident was witnessed by several persons, who at once hastened to the child, but it already was on its feet and crying from fright when the rescuers reached it. A physician was promptly summoned and an examination developed the gratifying fact that no bones were broken and, aside from a slight contusion on the child's head, it had not suffered any perceptible injury.

Little Marguerite is running about and playing as usual today, in apparently as sound and healthy a condition as any child in Omaha. Her parents are thrilled with gratitude over the fortunate outcome of so perilous an accident.
